H. C. QUIGLEY AND ABRAM V. MILLER

Two of Centre County's Best Republicans

WILL BOTH BE ELECTED

By Big Majorities on Tuesday, November 5th. They Will be a Credit to Their Offices.

That Henry C. Quigley and Abram V Miller will be elected on November 5th is conceded by every honest Democrat in Centre county. That they will be elected by good majorities is already assured by the dissatisfaction manifested on all sides relative to the present Democratic office holders, W. J. Singer and W. F. Smith. One or two loud mouthed Democrats still say that they can elect Smith even if they cannot elect Singer. But even that they say is very doubtful. The Democratic organs have worked hard to elect their candidates; but their efforts have helped the Republican candidates more than anything else could have done. The returns on election day will show that the people are tired of the way in which the commonwealth has been conducted under W. J. Singer. They will also show that an old soldier who has a brilliant war record cannot be abused by unscrupulous Democrats. The citizens of Centre county are going to put a man into office who will teach criminals that they cannot fool with the commonwealth of Centre county. They are going to put a man into office who will not be turned down by the court and grand jury at every session for incompetency in making out and presenting bills. They are going to put into office a man who is fully qualified to handle even the most difficult case that may come up.

This man is HENRY C. QUIGLEY.

On November 6th, when it is announced that Henry C. Quigley has been elected district attorney of Centre county, a thrill of pride will fill the heart of every voter in the co[illegible] A shout of thanks will go up from every justice loving citizen. And what is more, a cry of consternation will arise from every law-breaker and criminal in the borders of the county. Everybody will feel that they have done a creditable thing in electing such a man, and they can feel assured that it will be one of the greatest blessings that Centre county could receive.

Citizens who know that sometime or other they will be on a jury will feel thankful that they will be instructed by a man who can make things clear to them. To say the least that can be said, it is going to be one of the proudest moments for the history of the county, when Henry C. Quigley takes up the reins of the district attorneyship. It means success in the future for the commonwealth of Center county. It means that a man will look after the interests of the county, who is capable of managing them—something that hasn't been the case during the last three years. It means that people who have violated the laws will be convicted and punished. It means that the commonwealth of our county will be respected on all sides for its efficiency. Oh, it means so much; and all this is going to be ours just as soon as election is over and Quigley elected. It will be the same with A. V. Miller. He will be elected by a grand majority and again Centre county will be placed in the Republican ranks, never more to stray. Mr. Miller justly deserves the grand majority he is going to receive. He is an old soldier who risked his life and bravely fought for his country's good, and now he is going to get his reward. He is going to receive the support of every voter in the county, who has any desire, whatever, to see justice done. The old soldiers are going to be loyal to him. The relatives of the old soldiers are going to support him. Everybody is going to support him and the result will be that he will receive one of the grandest compliments ever paid a Centre countain. Putting it in plain words, he is going to be the next county prothonotary.

Oh, what dismay there will be in the Democratic ranks after the election. They are demoralized now, and just imagine what they will be then. Party organization split asunder; Democratic faith blasted forever, it is going to be one of the grandest and greatest political triumphs for the Republican party ever known in Centre county.

OUR imports of silver coin and bullion this year, to September 30, were $634,911 more than in 1894. Our imports of silver ore were $3,448,553 greater. Thus we receive upwards of $4,000,000 more silver in silver ore this year than in the corresponding nine months of 1894. Why not afford protection to the silver mine owners?

Dishonest Campaign Stuff.

We learn from one of our Democratic contemporaries that Chairman Wright, of the Democratic State Committee, is now sending out a campaign document intended to show great extravagance on the part of Republican administration. Some of the details of the charges are given.

To show how dishonest Chairman Wright has been with both himself and his party in the campaign document we print his own summary of it as follows:

Among the newly-created offices are those of a Deputy Auditor General, with $3000 a year; additional clerks in the Treasury Department; A Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, $3000; additional clerks in the Internal Affairs Department; bank examiners, whose salaries aggregate $45,000 yearly; increased clerical force for the Commissioner of Banking; the entire Agricuitural establishment, many new places under Superintendent John C. Delaney, as shown by the foregoing details of the expenses for public grounds and buildings, and eight addition al factory inspectors. The increases in salaries include those of Secretary of Internal Affairs from $3000 to $4000 a year; Superintendent of Banking, $4000 to $6000; Superintendent of Public Instruction, $2500 to $4000, and Adjutant General, $2500 to $4000.

Chairman Wright knows, of course, that the salaries of the Secretary of Internal affairs and Superintendent of Public Instruction were increased under Governor Pattison's administration. He knows also that during that Democratic administration other salaries were increased as follows: Deputy Attorney General, from $1800 to $4000; Auditor General, from $3000 to $4000; Lieutenant Governor, from $3000 to $5000; chief clerk and corporation clerk in Auditor General's office, from $1800 each to $2200; corporation clerk in State Department, from $1600 to $2200; chief clerk in Attorney General's office, from $1600 to $2200. It is also very well known to Chairman Wright that there were many additional clerks employed in some of the executive departments under the Pattison Administration who were paid out of the contingent funds.

It is dishonest to attempt to have it appear that the appropriation for the salaries of bank examiners is an increased burden to the State. It is a change only from the free system to a fixed salary. The Banking Department was created under the Pattison Administration and the examination fees were retained by the examiners. Under the recent act these fees are all paid into the State Treasury and they are more than likely to pay all the expenses of the department, which was not the case before. It is equally dishonest to talk of the Agricultural Department as an entirely new creation. It is merely a consolidation of various offices, many of which were already in existence and some of which were created under the Pattison Administration. Some of these have been abolished, but it would not suit Chairman Wright's purpose to say that.

What Chairman Wright is sending out, however, dishonest as it is, constitutes about the average campaign document. It will not deceive any intelligent man who has access to the news of the day and is capable of understanding what he reads. Falsehood, whether direct or by implication, will not serve to mislead the people of Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia Press.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY has completed a new series of poems, in which he varies the treatment of each one to such an extent that they are said to show the Hoosier poet's versatility to a remarkable degree. He has given the series to The Ladies' Home Journal, in which the first is about to be published. A. B. Frost has been engaged by the magazine to illustrate the poems.

SOLDIERS WILL STAND BY HIM

Every Veteran in Centre County Will Vote for A. V. Miller.

THEY WILL RESENT FALSE CHARGES

By Giving a Grand Majority to Their Comrade Who Fought With Them Side by Side.

The greatest tribute of esteem which will be showered on Abram V. Miller on Tuesday will be the solid vote of the old soldiers of Centre county. Every effort has been made to try and influence these gray-haired veterans to forsake their comrade. Every way imagineable was resorted to, to try and make it out that he was dishonest. That they have hopelessly failed will be shown by the united support which Mr. Miller will receive on Nov. 5th, from his old blue-coated comrades. They will tell the people on that day that they still believe Mr. Miller to be as honest a man as he was brilliant a soldier. These old Oaks of patriotism know he full worth of Mr. Miller and well they should too. Years of hard fighting told them more as to his sterling worth than all the newspapers in the unniverse. No amount of idle talk could influence them one way or the other. They were with Mr. Miller and from personal experience know what he went through. Wounded as he was and sent home to die they mourned as though some great general had been killed. Although not a general, he was as brave as any general ever was, and now those who were with him and saw his bravery will prove to the people that he is their friend and comrade by giving him their hearty support, not only in voting for him but in securing other votes for him also. It will be a glorious triumph over Democratic treachery. No man who has one bit of patriotism in his heart would ever have tried to accuse Mr. Miller of dishonesty. They said that he was trying to work the "old soldier racket." If A. V. Miller hasn't the right to call himself an old soldier then who in under the heavens has? They would like to see Mr. Miller downed because he has been a soldier and is now crippled. His comrades will not allow such a proceeding as this and they will be supported in their efforts by every true and patriotic voter in Centre county. They almost as much as said that Mr. Miller went into the war to make money off of his comrades. How absurd an accusation as this was could be plainly seen by the way in which the veterans denied it with such stern emphasis. They laughed in scorn and said "Oh Miller is only an old soldier." Great God only an old soldier. Ah, 'tis one of the greatest things any man could say that he was an old soldier. It ought to be the proudest moment of any man's life if he had the opportunity to even grasp the hand of an old soldier. No greater honor was ever known than to be a defender of our country and it was only envy that caused unscrupulous Democrats to scorn old gray-haired veterans just because they were crippled and not quite as active as some of those who were never near smoke or powder. It is a shame that such an epithet as that should ever reach the ears of a soldier. Those who have not passed through a war know not what the meaning of the word is. There is much consolation in the fact that notwithstanding all that has been said relative to Mr. Miller as being a dishonest man, etc., everything has been probed into and found that the accusations made were false and that the people believe them to be so and will prove this fact by casting the ir individual vote for him on election day.

IN an address of Mr. C. H. Clark, before the last legislature of Pennsylvania he made use of the following figures:

In 1866 the national debt was $2,000,000,000.

In 1894 the amount outstanding was $900,000,000.

In 1866 the debt could have been paid off in cotton with 14,184,000 bales.

In 1894 the balance due is equivalent to 51,000,000.

In 1866 the debt could have been paid off in wheat with 1,700,000,000 bushels.

In 1894 the balance due is equivalent to 2,054,000,000.

The quantity of cotton now required to pay off the balance of the debt is twice what would have been required to pay the original debt.

The quantity of wheat now required to pay off the balance of the debt is three times what would have been required to pay the original debt.

Why the Fall in Silver Affects the Price of Wheat.

Mr. D. R. Mead in Clark (Va). Courior thus forcibly and clearly shows how the farmer's product is affected by the price of silver.

"How can a fall in silver decrease the price of wheat in the markets of Europe? The answer is plain: The premium on gold in the silver using countries, caused by the fall in the gold price of silver, has the effect of a bounty on exports to gold using nations. The value of an ounce of silver in Mexico, Argentine or India has not fallen. The ounce will produce as much grain as ever. When silver was at par with gold at a ratio of 15½ to 1, wheat sold in London at 7 shillings a bushel, which, converted into Mexican exchange, were, worth about $1.71. The 7 shillings that our farmers obtained for their wheat in 1873, converted into exchange on New York, were also worth about $1.71. Both the American and the Mexican farmers received the same amount, from which they had to pay the transportation and other charges.

"To-day, with silver depreciated 50 per cent. measured in gold, wheat sells in London at 3 shillings a bushel in gold, which converted into Mexican exchange, are worth $1.50 and as transportation charges, etc., have much fallen in the last 20 years, the Mexican farmer receives almost as much silver to-day for a bushel of wheat as he did before it was demonetized, and this silver will produce as much wheat as ever. The farmer in the United States, on the other hand, competing with the Mexican and Indian farmer, must also now sell his wheat in London for about 3 shillings, which converted into exchange on New York amounts to about 73 cents. The American farmer receives only this amount less freight, insurance charges, etc.

"The great disadvantage under which the American farmer labors is very apparent, for it is well known that 73 cents in gold, the proceeds of a bushel of wheat sold in London (netting the farmers only about [illegible] in gold) will not raise as much wheat as the proceeds of a bushel of wheat sold in London at $1.50 a bushel in silver (netting the farmers about $1.25). While an ounce of silver will purchase a bushel of wheat in silver using countries, the Englishman will not pay more than the gold cost of an ounce of silver for wheat raised in the United States. The price of silver is a controlling factor in the supply of wheat, and the fall in silver has given a great impetus to the growth of wheat in silver using countries.

"The price of wheat can only rise permanently as silver rises, and our farmers can only enjoy prosperity when the parity between gold and silver is restored, for not until then will the bounty on exports from silver using to gold using countries be removed; and until that time our farmers will labor under a crushing disadvantage."

And not less true is it that painters—amateur and professional—will take kindly to "My Pet Subject," by Arthur Hoeber. FARMERS WILL CRUSH DEMOCRACY

They Are Justly Indignant Over Base Treachery.

NOT A SINGLE PROMISE KEPT.

Instead of Better Times as Promised in '92, the Farmers are Feeling Hard Times More than Ever.

IT is now on the eve of a political battle in Centre county. The election on Tuesday will be the preliminary skirmish of the great battle in '96. The voters everywhere in Pennsylvania have felt the weighty hand of the Democratic administration. Especially is this true in reference to the farmers. Pledge after pledge was made insuring all kinds of success if only Grover Cleveland were elected President. Oh, what a glorious good time was in store for all after Cleveland was made President. This was in '92. Our farmers were all going to get rich quick. They were going to get big prices for everything they produced and everything they bought was to be very cheap. Wooed as they were with honeyed words it was no wonder they were led to support Cleveland and the Democratic party. But right there their good times stopped. Those who had made such flattering promises quickly disappeared and the poor misguided voters were left to weep alone over their rash act. The big prices the farmers were to get for their products were only fancies which faded away in the distance and now are lost sight of even in the mind of the most imaginative one. "What did you say about wheat in '92?" "Oh yes, I was to get $1.25 per bushel." Do I get it?" Lord bless you no boy, I get but a paltry sixty cents. They fooled me once but they will never do so again. I voted the Democratic ticket hoping it would benefit myself but I was sadly mistaken. I have learned a lesson and a dear one at that too."

The above conversation took place between the writer and a Centre county farmer who voted the Democratic ticket in 1892. This shows how well the farmers are satisfied with the present administration and it also shows that they are going to express their feeling by voting the straight Republican ticket in the future. There is no class of people which has felt the effect of Clevelandism more than the farmers. We have them right here in our county. We don't need to go many miles to see the results of the work of the present administration. Three years ago the farmers imagined they could see in the future, clothes at half price, wheat away up, wool bring a good and ready sale, and lots of money on hand at all times. They bit on Democratic baits and now they are suffering from cut mouths. They thought they were doing what was best for the interests of their families. How cruelly they have been deceived is too well known to need relating here. To recall the base treachery practiced upon our farmers by unscrupulous Democrats would only be to bring up unpleasant thoughts of what has been the result of their folly of three years ago. Instead of having clothes for half price as was promised the farmers are still confronted with the same prices and they have no money to buy anything with even if things were at half price. But all this is going to be changed. The people are disgusted with the present administration and they have just cause for it. They are going to amend for their rash act of '92 by voting the straight Republican ticket in the future. They are going to fire the initial shot into the Democratic ranks on Nov. 5th, by electing Henry C. Quigley and Abram V. Miller. They are going to follow this up by sending out the grandest Republican majority Pennsylvania ever heard of and then they can feel satisfied that everything will be assured for future prosperity. The present head of the United States has made such a fizzle of his office that such a thing as another Democratic administration for many years yet to come, is entirely out of the question. Experience has clearly proven that for the interests of the people of Pennsylvania a Republican administration is absolutely necessary.

Clothing the Naked.

The renewal of activity in our factories and workshops during the past few months may not inaptly be regarded as a clothing of the naked. For a couple of years past a large proportion of the population has not been able to do this for itself or to its entire satisfaction. The reason is well known. By an unnatural freak the Free-Traders were elected to Congressional control. They at once proceeded to threaten the country with absolute ruin, very effectively distributing their object lessons.

Factory after factory was closed, hand after hand was turned idle upon the streets, but few of them, comparatively, with any financial resources or means of sustenance. Those were not days for replenishing wardrobes. Quite the contrary. They were leisure days, days of enforced idleness when there was ample time and abundant opportunity to over haul the wardrobe. Garments that had been thrown away in garret or cellar were brought back for further use. Such were mended that could be mended, while others served for the construction of Cleveland badges.

Those were not the days for buying new clothes. They were the days of enforced economy, the days of rags and tatters, owing to the open threat for absolute Free-Trade for the United States. Those mending days, however, have partly passed away with the passage of a partly Protective Tariff. The Free-Traders were prevented from carrying out their wild schemes and the people indorsed this restriction in the fall of 1894, just as soon as they had a chance to place themselves on record at the polls. Business mended at once and our factories have since been busy in clothing the naked—those who had been compelled to patch up their rags and tatters and make Cleveland badges, but who are now replenishing their wardrobe just as quickly as they earn money enough to pay for new clothes.

RAW cotton has advanced sharply in price. This is not helping us to capture the markets of the world, however. During the first three months of this fiscal year wes hipped abroad almost 100,000,000 pounds less cotton than in the corresponding months of July, August and September, 1894. The actual money loss in this trade for the three months was $6,387,000. the markets of the world don't want costly cotton. They want cheap cotton, cheap everything. To capture them we must become a cheap country with cheap prices for farm products and with cheap wages.

LABOR AND WAGES.

Conditions Worse Than When the Last Census Was Taken.

WARNING TO PENNSYLVANIANS.

Why the People of the State Protest Against Free Trade.

A TERRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The Value of Labor is $300,000,000 Less Than in 1887—Contrast This Destruction with the Progress of the Country During the Decades of Protection—Figures That Appeal to Thoughtful Men of All Parties.

[Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Much interest is being taken here in the Pennsylvania campaign, and the general belief is that the Republican platform is one that can be consistently indorsed by all Pennsylvanians, Democratic or Republican. There are tens of thousands of Democrats in the Keystone state who have no sympathy with free trade doctrines.

Since the beginning of the present year the free trade newspapers have been busily engaged in reporting what they were pleased to term "advances" in wages, though in no single instance has it been stated to what previous rate of wages the "advance" related. With a view to ascertaining the facts the American Protective Tariff league has undertaken an investigation to determine the average number of hands employed in different industries during the first half of the years 1890, 1892, 1894 and 1895, together with the percentage of wages paid, the rate of 1890 being taken as a full standard. There were 500 reports from eighty-five different industries.

These returns show that the same industries employed 9,530 more hands in 1892 than in 1890, an increase of 12 per cent. In 1894 they employed 24,081 hands less than in 1892, a decrease of 26 per cent. In the early part of 1895 they employed 11,756 more hands than in 1894, but 12,325 less hands than in 1892 and 2,795 less even than in 1890. For 1895 the employment of labor shows an increase of 17 per cent. as compared with 1894, a decrease of 13 per cent. as compared with 1892 and a decrease of 3 per cent. as compared with 1890.

The average of wages paid in 1892 was 5 per cent. higher than in 1890; in 1893 it was 16 per cent. less than in 1890 and 21 per cent. less than in 1892, while for the 1895 period the average rate of wages paid was 14 per cent. less than in 1890, 17 per cent. less than in 1892 and only 2 per cent. greater than in 1894. While those reported "advances" in wages have been diligently announced in the cases of the few industries that have been enabled to make them, nothing has been heard of the far more numerous other instances wherein the wage earners have not been so fortunate.

Previous investigations were:

McKinley census, October, 1892, showing over $40,000,000 invested in new or enlarged industries within two years; also that work has been provided for 37,285 additional hands.

Industrial census, October, 1893, showing a loss of 47.20 per cent. in the volume of trade as compared with November, 1892; a decrease of 60½ per cent. in the number of hands employed; a decrease of 69 per cent. in the amount of wages paid, and a decrease of $2.35 in the average weekly earnings.

Industrial census, October, 1894, showing a decrease of 56 per cent. in the output of factories as compared with 1892; a falling off of 30 per cent. in the number of hands employed; a falling off of 45 per cent. in the amount of wages earned; a decrease of $55 in average annual earnings.

We now have:

WAGES AND LABOR CENSUS, SEPTEMBER, 1895.

Comparison with.	Labor employed. More (+) or less (—).	Wages paid. More (+) or less (—).
1890	— 3 per cent	— 14 per cent
1892	— 13 per cent	— 17 per cent
1894	+ 17 per cent	+ 2 per cent

From this latest investigation it is apparent that the industrial condition of the United States has retrogressed more than half a decade. Six years have elapsed since the taking of the census of 1889, and 3 per cent. less labor is employed now than then, also labor earned this year at the rate of 14 per cent. less wages than in 1889. These results, as applied to the whole country, appear in the following exhibit:

	Census of 1890.	Investigation of 1895.
Hands employed	4,712,622—	3 per cent., 4,571,243
Wages earned	$2,283,216,529—	14 p. c., $1,963,566,215

The result of Democratic administration and a free trade fanatic congress is that labor was earning $300,000,000 less this year than in 1889. We have to thank the more conservative Democratic congressmen that the result was not worse. Contrast this half decade of Democratic destruction with the progress of the country during three decades of protection.

The suggestion naturally follows that our consumption of goods must be on the basis of our consumption in 1889, at least as far as the wage earners are concerned, if they are in receipt of $300,000,000 less than in 1889. This being the case, the effect of our present importation of foreign goods could only be fairly gauged by comparing them with our imports of 1889. That we are not consuming as much as we did from 1890 to 1893 is well known, but if the demand has fallen back to that of 1889 then our manufacturers will certainly have to curtail their output very shortly. We have, in fact, learned from representatives of several industries that this is likely to be the case.

Stamps.

From Harper's Round Table.

The dull season just ended has been extremely interesting from the fact that a large number of stamps have been advancing in value by leaps and bounds. So many new collectors have come into the field that the supply of scarce and rare stamps has been much smaller than the demand. This has been the case especially n unused U. S. stamps to such a degree hat dealers have refused to sell, calculating that they would make more money by holding off. The Department stamps have scored the greatest advance. The Executives, sold a few years ago for $4 or $5 per set, command $25 to $30 to-day. The Justice set, which could be bought for $8 or $10 a set, are difficult to find at $80 or $90. Even the despised interior, worth formerly 75c. to $1 per set, now bring $5 to $6. A fine set of State formerly owned by the writer, and sold for $40 in 1891, changed hands the other day at $250.

In a word collectors with money—bankers, merchants, noblemen, and even royalties—have greatly increased in numbers during the past three years, whereas there are no more unused U. S. stamps to-day than formerly. Indeed, there are fewer stamps on the market, as there is a constant destruction of old albums and collections, through fire, water, and carelessness.

Used stamps are not appreciated to as great an extent as unused, as the great demand has led to the looking over of every lot of old letters within the reach and knowledge of collectors. Consequently the common varieties of U. S. stamps and envelopes are somewhat of a drug in the market, and are bought by dealers to-day chiefly on the chance of finding one or more of the scarcer kinds in the lot of "cheap trash."

Paderewski Arrives.

New York, Oct. 23.—Paderewski, the pianist, arrived this morning on the Teutonic. His hair is almost, if not quite as long as ever, and stands out from his head in the same careless profusion. He will make his first appearance in this city on November 4. In conversation Paderewski said:

My opera is finished, except that the orchestration is still to be done. I have barely commenced that. The book is by a countryman of mine, and is in both Polish and German. There will not be many novelties in my repertoire this season. A couple of works by Brahme, one of Paganini and a few others.

Paderewski's tour will include all the principal cities of the country from Portland, Me., to Los Angeles.

Struck by a Train and Killed

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 23.—Dr. D. J. Kelly a well known physician of this county, was found dead near Peckville this morning. He was lying twenty yards from the Delaware and Hudson railroad track, but the body did not indicate death by a railroad accident. Foul play was at first suspected but an investigation by the corner revealed that he had been killed by a train, as $38 were found in his pocket. Deceased was 49 years of age and is one of the eight brothers, all of whom are doctors. He was born in Mill City, Wyoming county, and had a wide acquaintance through this section of the state.

He Pulled the Tooth.

On Thursday afternoon a novel scene was witnessed in front of Ahenbach's jewelry store. It was that of a man pulling another man's tooth with a pair of blacksmith pinchers. Quite a crowd gathered around the pair and they were evidently much amused at the discomfiture of the poor fellow who was trying to get rid of the molar.

SHOOTING DONE AT MIDNIGHT.

Four Mysterious Shots Fired on Wednesday Evening.

About 10.45 o'clock Wednesday evening the citizens of East Howard street, were very much frightened to hear several loud reports ring out in the air. As the night was very quiet, the shots sounded all the louder. John Long, an employee at Valentines' furnace, was just coming home from work and was walking up Howard street to his house. When he had gotten in front of the house of Hugh Taylor, Jr., several more shots were fired from the alley near there. One of the bullets struck a building near where Mr. Long was standing at the time, and naturally he was scared half to death. It seems that several of the colored sports had taken too much red-eye and were out painting the town a beautiful black. Going up Howard street they made considerable noise and soon the shots were heard. Mr. Long made complaint to the ONE POLICEMAN IN TOWN, that it was not safe to go up Howard street, as the bullets were flying thick and fast. Chief Montgomery knew nothing about the firing until told of it by Mr. Long. He then went up over jail hill and down into the alley, where it was supposed the shots were fired. He came across Jim Delige, who told him that he (Delige) was going along the alley when he was attacked by two fellows who wanted to scrap with him. He said he threw a stone at them whereupon they fired at him in return. Of course Montgomery had no proof of anything to the contrary, and had to accept this account of the shooting.

Bellefonte is fast becoming a regular wild western mining settlement. It is a bonanza for criminals and peace disturbers. Early in the evening the people are amused? by the wild conduct of the little boys who are sent out by their parents to make the lives of OTHER people miserable. About midnight the people are treated to a regular fusillode of bullets banging up against their houses. Then of course as so much of the night has been given over to the enjoyment? of strangers, the balance is taken up in allowing them to come into the houses and taking what they want and then going some place else and go through the same program. It is a perfectly safe business—no one will disturb them.

Good-bye old peaceable Bellefonte. No doubt in several days you will be a flourishing center for thieves. Murderers and law-breakers of every description we bid you welcome.

Didn't Know it Was Loaded.

Morton Gray, a Reynoldsville boy, while out in the woods with two companions supposed he had fired all the bullets from a revolver he carried. He then pointed the gun towards his head and said "watch me shoot myself" and pulled the trigger. There happened to be one ball in the weapon which the doctors afterwards found in the boy's cheek.—Lock Haven Express.

Charges Against a Preacher.

Toledo, O., Oct. 25.—Charges of immorality have been preferred against Rev. W. L. Albritton, presiding elder of the Methodist church for Northern Ohio, and a board was this afternoon appointed to try the accused minister. It is said the charges are sworn to by three women. Albritton has a wife and six children.

Music For Sunday.

The program at the St. John's church on Sunday is as follows: Te Deum-Sullivan in D. Magnificat-Simper in E flat. Nunc Dimittis-Simper in E flat. W. A. Goodwin, Organist and choir Director. These selections will be fine and should be heard by every lover of good music.

Will Play on Saturday.

An interesting game of foot ball will be played in Bellefonte at the glass works meadow on Saturday Nov. 2nd. between the Academy and State College prep. teams. The teams will be pretty evenly matched and everybody can look for a close game. Captain Hughes has been giving the Academy team a hard daily practice and they are gradually becoming one of the best amateur teams in the state.

INTERESTED IN THE BOYS.

The Y. M. C. A. Convention Discusses Work Among the Coming Men—Statistics of the Association in the State.

Erie, Pa., Oct. 25.—The second day's session of the Y. M. C. A. State convention was devoted to a discussion of work among the boys. Prof. E. J. Houston, of Philadelphia, urged the development of the boy along educational lines, and believed that an indifferent boy can be molded into a christian through the process of educational evolution. F. H. Gamel, of Washington, was of the opinion that secretaries in small places should follow their members with correspondence into the cities, that they may be guided into the Y. M. C. A. field. J. Bayard Henry, of Philadelphia, talked on State work this evening, and Henry Bond, of Buffalo, discussed work among young men as necessary to get young men interested in church work.

The Executive committee reported that while there were 200 towns and boroughs without associations, yet there were 149 State, railroad and college associations and in addition there were 28 small towns having district sections. The State committee is also in touch with 127 towns. The membership is 26,671. The current expenses of the year were $163,000. New associations have been organized at Kane, Steelton, Stroudsburg, Wilmerding and Huntingdon. The 16 railroad associations have almost 5,000 members. The Y. M. C. A. Cadet Battalion, of Butler, with 100 boys, arrived this evening. They were reviewed by the convention, after which they went to the Soldiers' Home and gave a drill and concert.

Sent Home.

Hazing and carousing has become an intolerable practice among the students at Penns. State College this year. They seem to have a wild set of boys, some of whom are in need of restraint. On Saturday about fifteen passed through Bellefonte for their respective homes, having been awarded a vacation for hazing. On Friday evening a gang of students came to town and amused themselves tearing down signs, etc. Policeman Montgomery caught them in the act and compelled them to replace everything or be taken to the lockup. They quickly complied with his request.—Democrat.

—It is said that the citizens of Tyrone are holding all their mail back until the first day of the free delivery system comes around. They want to make the first day's mail as large as possible.

the whole oil

You look at cod-liver oil. It is so much oil or fat. But the chemists come along and tell us that in that oil are united, in almost invisible form, most valuable medicinal agents, that the fat of cod-liver oil is only one of its merits, and that no process of medical skill or chemical science can unite these peculiar properties with oil as they exist in nature. This is why there can be no substitute for cod-liver oil. When you get Scott's Emulsion you get the whole oil divided into tiny little particles, digested, and ready to be taken up into the system.

The hypophosphites which are combined with it are valuable tonics, increasing the appetite, strengthening the nerves, and restoring vitality in the weakened system.

When you ask for Scott's Emulsion and your druggist gives you a salmon-colored package with the picture of a man and fish on it—you can trust that man with your prescriptions!

Practical Poultry Papers.

From Harper's Bazar.

The nest-box for a sitting hen should be more capacious than an ordinary one, giving her plenty of "elbow room" to turn about in manoeuvre her eggs to insure successful hatching. It is claimed that a sod o grass, cut to fit the bottom of the box and slightly hollowed in the middle, makes the most wholesome and comfortable nest a hen can have, and one which enables her to keep her eggs in a uniform temperature. The earth of the sod neither encourages nor harbors vermin. Cedar twigs and pine needles are excellent to strew in nests, as they are also anti-verminous. The nest-box should be dusted once a week with air-slacked lime by means of a mall powder bellows, and the hen's body with Persian insect powder as soon as she begins sitting, ten days after, and just before the eggs hatch. A sitting hen should have a spacious "run" of laths and chicken wire of her own. In it should be placed her daily ration of food and pure water, also her dust bath, as she needs more than her ordinary comforts when sitting. Later, when her little ones arrive, a coop should be attached to the "run," taking the place of the discarded nest. No dishes of moist food or water should then be permitted to stand around, lest the wee chicks fall in and get damp and chilled, for cold and wet are fatal to them. A simple contrivance to prevent small chickens from getting into a food or water vessel is to invert an ordinary kitchen colander and set it on a shallow earthen pie dish two inches larger in circumference than itself, placing a heavy stone on the colander to keep it stationary. This will provide a circular space of inch and a half wide and deep for water just in their reach, and not deep enough or wide enough to wet their wee downy bodies.

Doing Great Damage.

Huntingdon, Pa., Oct. 25.—The most disastrous fires that have swept the forests about Huntingdon for years are now raging with tremendous fury on Warrior and Lick ridges and Jack mountain. On the east side of Warrior ridge, for a distance of ten miles, every tree and bush heap is ablaze, and farm properities and fences are in immminent danger. Two hundred men and boys are fighting the fire in that locality. The magnificent Warm Spring hotel, once a famous inland summer resort, is in groat danger. A large flock of sheep belonging to Rudolph Gahagan were burned yesterday. The timber, young and old, is entirely destroyed, and the flames have reached within a quarter of a mile of this town. On Lick ridge and Jack mountain the principal destruction is to the timber. Fully 500 persons are fighting fires in this locality,

Elizabeth, Pa., Oct. 52.—A forest fire is burning on the hills north of West Elizabeth, destroying trees and fences. The fire started in what is called Nigger hollow one-half mile below the town, and at the rate it has been burning it will soon endanger the houses and property on the hill in West Elizabeth. The fire was caused by sparks of engines on the Pittsburg, Virginia & Charleston railroad and is still burning to-night.

THE Watchman has clearly proven that it is the worst two-faced journal in the State. The Philadelphia Times praised Senator Quay for his efficiency and the Watchman on Oct. 11, said in reply "that it was only another instance of the inconsiderate expressions of the Times. On Oct. 25, the Watchwan, the same paper that condemned the Times" as using inconsiderate expressions, copies an article on "Hastings and the Miners." Both of these papers are Democratic organs and if the Times used inconsiderate expressions about Quay it also used inconsiderate expressions about Hastings. Still the Watchman doesn't think so.

Tyrone has also been visited by robbers. The Herald of that place says: Robbers entered the residence of J. Robison on Lincoln avenue last night, by means of a side window, and disarranged matters there in generally, leaving however, without securing much booty. They helped themselves to bread and applebutter, scattered some of the family belongings over the floors but otherwise did not disturbe house, occupants or contents.

Crams's Atlas Received.

This office is in receipt of a copy of Cram's "Standard Railway and Business Atlas of the United States, for the current year. It is bound in full Russia, handsomely guilt, and is a necessity to the editor, author, lawyer, business man or teacher, who wants an atlas complete in detail and up to date. It contains the largest and finest collection of business maps ever placed between two covers; all of the United States and Canada maps, showing the different railway systems in different colors, artistically executed in continuous lines of color, so that a single glance will show each entire railroad system separate and distinct from all others. It has special charts of islands and principal cities. It also contains every county, town, village and postoffice in the United States, and gives the number of banks each contains as well as whether it is a telegraph station, and what company reaches it, and gives the population of each place according to the last census, that of 1890. This information makes it a perfect shipper's guide, and important to every business man. The atlas is bound to fill a want in households fortunate enough to possess it, as it will be of interest to the entire family. BURIED AT MIDNIGHT

Sadly Afflicted Family of Walter Whippo Who Lives on Willowbank Street.

Another victim has been carried away by that dreaded disease diphtheria. Again the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whippo has been plunged into the depths of grief by having their little three year-old boy taken from them after an illness of only a few days. The child was thought to be better but at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon the death angel entered and the soul was separated from the body. The funeral was held at 11 o'clock Friday night so as to run no risk to other people. The mother and the remaining child are both down with the same disease, although the condition of the former seems to be somewhat improved. Two deaths have occurred in this family from this disease during the last week, and there seems to be no helping the other members of the family. It is indeed one of the saddest cases ever known in Bellefonte.

A family almost broken up in one week and no check to the dreaded cause. Mr. Whippo has the sympathy of the whole town in his hour of trouble and it is the greatest regret of the people that they are powerless to aid him.

Protect the Miners.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Governor Altgeld recently appointed seven state mine inspectors, and yesterday he summoned them before him, gave them their commissions and then made the following talk to them regarding their duties. The governor said:

"The mining laws of this state were enacted for the protection of the weak and the poor. The operator, who is strong, can take care of himself. These coal miners are sometimes ignorant of their rights, always poor and dependent, and cannot manifest their dissatisfaction with objectionable conditions prevailing around the mines without risking their jobs. You are, therefore, appointed by the state to do for them what they cannot do for themselves. I therefore insist that in inspecting mines you do so without permitting the operators or their representatives to accompany you.

"Make your inspection thorough and independent, without their aid. After you have done so find out from the men if there is any ground for complaint among them.

"I further wish to say that there has been entirely too many accidents; not that there has been more within the past few years than formerly, but I mean to say there were some accidents that should have been avoided."

McKinley Tariff Indorsed.

In many a business there has been an awakening, but in no business has there appeared the safe prosperity that existed after the passage of the McKinley Tariff bill. Since the Wilson bill was passed there has not been a single new industry introduced from a foreign country into this country. That is a mark of prosperity that the Wilson bill is powerless to place upon this country. It was an accomplished object of the McKinley bill. Was there a single industry driven from the country by the McKinley bill? No. On the other hand, the Wilson bill has driven the plush business from the city of Bridgeport and elsewhere. The plush besiness is only one of many expelled by Wilson bill circumstances.

One of the planks adopted by the next national Republican convention must be a plank indorsing the Tariff views of Governor McKinley.—The Brooklyn, N. Y., Times, Sept. 6, 1895.

Mails Fed the Flames.

Harrisburg, Oct. 25.—The loss of valuable mail matter in the wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad near Newport yesterday was very large. Chief Clerk Gore, of the railway postal service, says that only 31 of the 135 or more registered letters in transit for Indiana, Indian Territory, Illinois, New Mexico, Arizona, Louisville and Nashville R. P Kansas City, Denver and Cincinnati were saved. All the paper mail for these places, and all the letter mail, estimated at about 50,000 letters, was lost. Of the register pouches burned, four were from Hartford, one from Boston, one from New York and one from Harrisburg, all consigned to Pittsburg, and one from Harrisburg for Chicago. These pouches were exceedingly valuable.

It Has Been Used Before.

In Friday's NEWS in speaking of the use of anti-toxine we said it had only been discovered about three months ago and yesterday was used in Bellefonte for the first time. This is a mistake. Anti-toxine for diptheria has been used in this place more than a year ago. In looking up the records we find in "The Transactions of the Medical Society of Philadelphia" that in April 1893, Behring and Koessel published the results obtained in the treatment of thirty cases of diptheria by the injection of the so called anti-toxine serum. This goes to show that the remedy is not a new one by any means, and has been in Bellefonte before.

—A number of Bellefonters attended the Columbus club dance at Lock Haven on Friday evening. They report having had a good time.

ALMOST INSTANTLY KILLED.

John Dribbs, Aged 9 Years, Tripped On the Sidewalk, and His Sharp Pointed Pencil Penetrated His Breast, Causing Almost Instant Death.

Pittsburg, Oct. 25 —John Dripps a 9-year-old son of Joseph M. Dripps, of 9 Boggs avenne, was almost instantly killed yesterday by falling on a sharp slate pencil he carried, while leaving the Mt. Washington school yard, the pencil piercing his heart. He was one of the brightest pupils of Miss Irene Hutchinson, in room five. He and Julius Orris sat in the same row. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when school was dismissed the two rushed out in haste. There is a baluster on either side of the school house steps, and each boy slid down. Dripps reached the bottom first and broke into a run on the sidewalk, imitating the "Choo, Choo' of a locomotive, with Julius following closely. He was carrying a slate pencil that he had sharpened shortly before. Somehow he was tripped up on the side walk and fell on the slate pencil. He got up, trying to wrench the pencil from his body, but fell again. A man driving a laundry wagon saw the accident and picked up the wounded boy, carrying him into the home of Mrs. Hardy. Dr. J. A. Potts was summoned, but before he arrived the boy was dead. Part of the pencil is still imbedded beneath the flesh. The little fellow had been at the home of his chum Julius after dinner and they went to school together. Peculiar pathos is attached to his death, from the fact that four years ago his twin brother, James, died almost as suddenly. Up to their fifth year the two were dressed alike. when separated their playmates knew not which one they were with. But, together, one answered to "Jim" and the other to "Johnnie."

The body of John was taken to his parents' home after the accident. The mother was broken-hearted when she saw the little fellow dead. Joseph M. Dripps, the father of the dead boy, is a boxmaker for for Dilworth Bros. His wife keeps a notion store at their home.

Hazing May Cause a Death.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 25.—A. M. Gifford, coacher of the foot ball team, and two students of Michaels university, attempted last night to haze Theodore Vera, son of Col. Vera, of Custer City, Pa. Disguised and masked, they suddenly came upon Vera, with pistols presented. The young man ran into the college, terror-stricken, screaming murder.

Miss Mary Jennings, of the college, became so frightened at his cries that she fell unconscious to the floor. She has not yet recovered consciousness, and her recovery is doubtful.

They Were Subdued.

At 1.30 o'clock this morning a crowd of young men from State college, were splitting the atmosphere with their yells, while standing in front of the Updegraff. A well directed shower of cold water from the pitcher of an indignant guest above, dampened the ardor of the hilarious ones even as it wet their clothes.—Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

On Friday the Knights of the Golden Eagle moved their effects from their old rooms in the McClain Block into their new quarters in the Eagle Building on Allegheny street. They now have one of the finest lodge rooms in the state which is saying a good bit, but it is nevertheless true.

Spoiled Her Sister's Beauty.

Elmwood, O., Oct. 25.—Hattie Case, jealous because Elmer Temple, an employe of her father, paid more attention to her sister Helen than to her, slashed Helen's face with a razor, spoiling her pretty face. The girls are daughters of Marcus Case, a farmer, and Hellen teaches a district school.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

FOR PROTHONOTARY,
ABRAM V. MILLER,
of College Twp.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY,
HENRY C. QUIGLEY, of Bellefonte.

GET in out of the wet and vote for Quigley and Miller.

REPUBLICANS see that every vote is brought out on Tuesday.

A VOTE for Quigley and Miller means a vote for two good men.

VOTE for H. C. Quigley for District Attorney and you will have done a noble act.

A REPUBLICAN victory at the coming election means more honor to Centre county.

JIM SCHOFIELD will never go back to the Legislature unless he walks or goes back on his own hook.

DOUBTFUL voters will make no mistake about being on the winning side this time by voting for Quigley and Miller.

A DOCTOR who can cure sick Democrats on the day after the election can make a fortune in Centre county next week.

IT will take Charlie Kurtz and Pete Meek the balance of their lives to atone for the lies they have already told in the present campaign.

A GRAND Republican majority on Tuesday will be the bill-of-fare for misguided Democrats to eat for several years. Get on the winning side.

THE election on Tuesday will be only a mere matter of form in ratifying the public feeling, as the Democrats already acknowledge defeat.

JAKE RUNKLE says that jail hill is a "darn sight" harder to climb than it looks to be. Well he ought to know as he has had a few weeks experience at it anyway.

DEMOCRATIC organs do not need to tell the voters to go to the polls on Nov. 5. They will do so without any telling and the rebuke they will administer to Democratic corruption will securely place Old Centre in the Republican ranks for ever.

WERE one to believe everything the Democrat says about the "goodness" of W. F. Smith, he would think that already defeated Democratic candidate had been raised in a pulpit. He may have been brought up in a pulpit but it must have been in the back yard of the church.

THE Watchman thinks Cleveland is a great man. If Gray Meek had failed to get the appointment as Surveyor of the Port, the Watchman would have thought the double chinned President a poor representative of the people. But then that is the way with Meek: as long as they pony up with him, they are all right, but if they once get behind—Oh Lord, then they will get it.

It is Merely Good Health.

That beautiful complexion is health, preserved by Ripans' Tabules.

Ripan's Tabules purify the blood, clear the skin of blemishes and make life more worth living.

Do Your Duty.

On Tuesday next every voter in Centre county has a duty to perform that should not be neglected for any reason. On that day the people of Centre county will say by their ballots that they are disgusted with the way our county commonwealth has been conducted for the last three years. They will say by their ballots that a capable lawyer shall be our next district attorney and that his name shall be Henry C. Quigley. By their ballots the good citizens of this county will sternly rebuke the unscrupulous and false charges made against that brilliant old soldier, Abram V. Miller. They will proclaim it far and wide that one who sacrificed his all for his country's sake shall not be trampled down by unfair means. That A. V. Miller will receive the vote of every old soldier in the county has been made doubly certain by the false charges of dishonesty made against him by one or two Democratic papers.

It is the duty of every voter to go to the olls early and vote himself. Then he should make it his duty to see that all the other voters are gotten to the polls and voted. It is the duty of every honest voter in Centre county to redeem the commonwealth of our county by placing a man at the head of it who is capable of conducting its affairs. It is the voter's duty to put into office a man who will defy law-breakers and criminals against tampering with our courts of justice. It is the duty of every voter to cast a ballot that he can be proud of and feel that it is for the good of Centre county. To do this it is necessary to elect Henry C. Quigley as Centre county's next district attorney. When this has been done it will be the first and most important step for the building up of the commonwealth of Centre county. That our seat of justice in conducting the cases of the county has been in poor hands for three years, is conceded by everybody. That the present district attorney has proved a complete ailure is acknowledged by all. That he has been the laughing stock of every member of the Centre countys bar ever since he has been in office is made especially noticeable at every session of court. That he has been turned down by the court and grand jury at every session is only two well known to need recital in these columns. Centre county's commonwealth has been under a shroud of misfortune ever since W. J. Singer attempted to try his first case as district attorney. Visiting lawyers have gone away from Bellefonte laughing in their sleeves at the way they fooled our present district attorney owing to his incompetency. He has been made sport of in every case he ever tried to conduct, and it has long been the opinion of everybody that the sooner his term of office expired, the better it would be for the county. We would like to ask just one question right here:

"Voters, do you approve of this kind of service for county officials?" If you do, then re-elect Mr. Singer. If you do not, and you should not, then elect Henry C. Quigley and you will do away with all this trouble.

Elect a man who will be a credit to the office. We are very sorry to admit that Mr. Singer has the misfortune to be incompetent to fill such a position; but then we censure him for again wanting a position that has painfully been evident for three years too be to far beyond him. We have no fault to find with Mr. Singer personally, but we do say he is not qualified to be district attorney of Centre county. This fact no one knows better than Mr. Singer himself, and it is the wonder of every person that he wants to be re-elected, after he has already made such a complete failure of it. We honestly think that if Mr. Singer had to do the thing himself he would not try for re-election, and that it is only the urging on of one or two supporters that has brought him into the present campaign. No one knows better than Mr. Singer, himself, that he will be defeated and the opinion of conservative men, Democrats and Republicans, is that the best thing he could do would be to gracefully withdraw, and thus save him self the mortification of defeat at the polls.

Mr. Smith has made as good a record as any average man has made, but there is nothing extraordinary about him. The only thing yet that has been pushed forward in Mr. Smith's favor is that he is an ordinary penman. It takes more than penmanship to be prothonotary and this Mr. Smith knows very well. We do not say that Mr. Smith has proved a failure in his office, but we do say that Mr. Miller can fill the office much more acceptably. Then again Mr. Miller deserves the election and ought to have it. Who ever heard of W. F. Smith before he was elected prothonotary? What had he ever done that entitled him to a county office? Nothing that you or anybody else ever heard of. The only reason he was ever elected in the first place was to hold together the party in the locality in which he lived, and thus insure more Democratic votes. If there is a man in the United States to-day, who is deserving of election, it is A. V. Miller. He has already given the greater part of his life for his country. He has alway been charitable towards his neighbors whether they were of the same political faith as he or not; and this fact is known by everybody who ever came in contact with him. The large majority that he will receive on Tuesday next will be the highest token of esteem in which he is held by not only the old soldiers, but by everybody in the county.

Voters, we appeal to you as honest citizens to redeem Centre county by putting into office two men whom everybody will be proud of, Henry C. Quigley and Abram V. Miller.

Vote for Henry C. Quigley.

is not necessary to the enjoyment of perfect health, yet strong, healthy organs and faculties give rise to the most delightful sensations of existence.

Exercise, common sense and ordinary precaution and you need never be very sick. When you find your stomach troublesome, your bowels inactive, your nerves sensitive—look out! When your weight is decreasing, when your energy is waning, when exertion seems impossible and sleep does not give rest—look out!

Serious illness has its beginning in neglected little things. Even dread consumption comes on by degrees, and may begin with a very slight derangement. Taken in time, 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption can be cured. Taken in time, no disease need be really serious. The best safeguard against disease is an active, healthy liver. That means good blood and good blood means good solid healthy flesh.

The germs of disease seek out the weak spots in the body. Don't have any weak spots. If you have them now, clear them out, tone them up, make them strong. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do it. It searches out all poisonous matter and disease-germs of whatever character. It regulates the action of the organs of the whole body. It forces out impure matter, makes the blood rich and puts new life into every fiber. It makes good, firm, healthy flesh—doesn't make fat. It gives you flesh that you can work with—the flesh that means health, but a reasonable plumpness is essential to the best bodily condition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is pleasant to take and you don't have to take an ocean of it to get well either.

We are Muckers.

That is the remark that was made by C. M. Thompson, the manager of the State College Foot Ball team on Saturday evening to a Bellefonter who as far as being a gentleman is concerned is far in advance of Mr. Thompson. The conversation occurred on the train after the game was over and to cap the climax of a genera tearing up of the Bellefonte and Williamsport newspapers, the would be gentlemun said that the Bellefonte people were nothing but a se of muckers. No gentle man would make such a remark as that and Mr. Thompson clearly demonstrated his smallness in every particular. Just think of it. In that remark our ministers and every body in Bellefonte are termed muckers. We will let the people of Bellefonte draw their own conclusions as to what Mr. Thompson himself is.

It is too bad for the balance of the students and in fact every person connected with State College that such a person is allowed to represent that institution in any thing. Since that genteman? has so kindly given Bellefonters such an honored title we hope they will show their appreciation of the gift by not attending any athletic or social event held at State College while Mr. Thompson is a student there, or is any way connected with that institution.

Publishing a Paper in Texas.

Crosby County News.

The "News" will not show up again for two or three issues, because our children are all at school, where they "had ought" to be, which leaves old Dad to cut, haul, and stack the winter stock of feed and to get out the "News," which he can't quite "cutter." But he can divide and conquer like the gold bugs are trying to do in Texas, which the same he shall do, beginning on the crop next week. When we get our feed and wood in the "News" will begin its winter work. Remember! There is mighty little pay and lots of work in this business, and we have to manage as we do to get along.

Traffic too Much for Cars.

The Pennsylvania company has 41,971 cars of its own and 40,634 belonging to individuals and companies doing business over its lines, and had the company as many more often could not meet the requirements for cars. To-day they are many thousand cars short of filling daily orders and are obliged to select the shippers who should be first favored.—Philipsburg Daily Journal.

The Farmer and Sugar.

The cultivation of beets as a garden vegetable is almost as old as the nation itself, but the production to any extent in this country of the variety of beets that yield sugar, prior to the passage of the McKinley act, was a novelty. So much so in fact that comparatively few farmers were aware of the value of a beet crop. It is true that to raise this crop for sugar at a profit factories must be established within a reasonable distance of the beets, but there is really no more reason why this could not and would not have been done in this country than in France, Germany, Russia or Sweden, where the farmers have long realized handsome profits from a sugar beet crop.

There is no one foreign article that costs our people more money than sugar, and yet with a soil and a climate better adapted to the cultivation of the raw material than any abroad we are confronted with the fact that, while the great nations named have long been exporters of sugar, the United States remains in about the same relative position as to sugar production that it held a century ago. There is no good reason for this. It is true that we cannot produce as much sugar from the beet in California, Utah or Nebraska, nor as much from cane per acre as can be obtained from Havana or Cuba. But, all things considered, the price of land, climate and our superior intelligence go far to make up for the difference in crop product abroad and the low price of labor.

The people most interested in the beet sugar industry are the farmers, for the cost of sugar is largely an agricultural item. It is the raw material from which the profit proceeds and which furnishes a larger field for labor than any other. The profit to the intelligent beet raiser is much larger than that from wheat, corn or oats. The beet crop is safer from storm or drought than many other crops, and it should by the effort of our farmers, as is done in Germany and in France, to combine to erect small sugar factories in order to furnish a market near at hand for their beet.

Facts and Conditions.

The free trade press and its allies, the Mugwump independent organs, tell us that good times are upon us, and denounce any further discussion of the tariff question. The following facts are apparent in relation to our industrial, financial and commercial situation:

The receipts of the treasury have fallen behind the expenditures at the rate of about $50,000,000 per annum. We have increased the national debt by $162,500,000 thus far under this administration. The treasury is not paying the appropriations made by congress, and has adopted all sorts of subterfuges to prevent such payments, such as the establishment of a supremest court in a bureau of the government at Washington. Our exports have fallen off more than $120,000,000 per annum, as compared with the past two years of the McKinley law. Our imports are increasing. We are importing the common articles of agricultural and of mechanical and industrial production, the things which can be produced by American labor, and we are sending abroad our money to pay, in this indirect way, the labor of Europe, Asia and Africa.

While this condition exists, labor in this county is yet largely unemployed and outside of a few branches' is being remunerated at a figure far below the McKinley times of 1892. If this be prosperity we have it.

Gold and Falling Prices.

In a recent editorial the American shows that as one nation after another has closed its mints to silver the demand for gold has increased, its price has risen, and there has been a general fall in the prices of commodities. Says our contemporary:

"Sauerbeck's tables of forty-five leading English commodities show prices to be about 37 per cent. lower to-day than they were on the average for the years 1867-1877, while tables covering sixteen of the principal exports of the United States, taken with the regard to importance, show a fall in prices for the fiscal year, 1895, of 54.58 per cent. over prices ruling in 1873. Mr. Sauerbeck's tables are sustained by the tables of the London Economist, and the general fall in prices of twenty-six of our chief imports, which show collectively a fall of 36.47 per cent for the fiscal year, 1894, as compared with the year 1873.

"Between 1850 and 1873 the labor cost of production was falling faster than since, but prices were not falling. They were rising, and the wage earner benefited from improved methods of production in higher wages. Since 1873 prices have fallen almost steadily, and the producer has reaped less and less reward for his industry. The only bright spots in our industrial history for the past twenty years have been when prices were rising consequent upon temporary measures to enlarge the use of silver.

"The most palpable, but far from the most injurious effect of falling prices consequent upon the appreciation of gold has been to double the burden of all debtors and levy a double tax on all production. It forces every debtor to pay more than he covenanted to pay, not more dollars but more property. In 1873 the funded debt of the United states amounted to $1,710,480, 850, now it amounts to $747,360,400, but the same quantity of commodities which it would take to cancel this apparently much reduced debt at prices of our principal exports for 1895 would have paid off a debt of $1,645,488,488 in 1873. Our interest-bearing debts amounted to some $2,065,000,000 In 1883, in 1895 to some $1,050,000,000, but it would take the same sacrifice of commodities to pay this debt to-day as it would to have paid $2,310,000,000 of the debt in 1873. As with the United States. And the former pays for all, so it is with our railroads and other debtors.

United Evangelical Church Dedicated.

The St. John's Evangelical church at Newberry was dedicated yesterday. Bishop R. Dubs, D. D. L. L. D., of Chicago, preached three masterly sermons to large congregations, and the collections of the day amounted to over $3,000. The church is a brick structure of modern style, valued at $8,000.

Rev. H. A. Benfer, of this city, was present last evening and took part in the services.—Lock Haven Express.

It is announced that ex-President Benjamin Harrison is engaged in writing a series of magazine articles for The Ladies' Home Journal, in which periodical they will begin in the December number. The series will be called "This Country of Ours," and will consist of ten articles and probably more. The papers are being written by General Harrison especially for women, to meet a growing widespread desire on their part to intelligently understand the workings of our own government and the great national questions. It will be the aim of the articles to explain in the clear and concise style for which the ex-President is famous, just what the United States government means; the origin and meaning of the constitution; how laws are enacted and enforced; what the powers of the president and other officials are; what the judiciary system means; how our foreign relations are brought about and their meaning; how congress and the senate legislate—in fact a complete explanation of the government told in a popular way. General Harrison writes the articles from the standpoint of a citizen who understands his subject. While directly intended for women, the articles will naturaly have a much broader scope and likewise interest men, and especially young men.

Over Production.

"Agricultural wealth overflows the storehouses of the country and that is why there is no longer a silver question. The farmers have no time to consider half values for their products. Wheat, corn and fruit harvests are exceptional this year. The statements of the agricultural department show that the crops of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Kentucky, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas will be very large. Ohio and Illinois are the only big states where the returns are unfavorable. With the supply so much greater than the demand, prices have fallen to a point much lower than has been the case in years, but this benefits the householder as big corn and potato crops keep down the price of meats."

The above from the Philadelphia Times seems to be rather contradictory, but certainly shows the farmer that the Times is much more interested in the householder who buys the products of the farm than in the man whose overflowing storehouses bring him no reward for his toil. It is all right for the farmer to solve the labor problem, by working eight hours before dinner, and eight hours after dinner, but when he begins to talk about the causes that depress the prices of his products and make his overflowing graineries bring him no return for that labor or in fact reduce the price of the products below the cost of production; as shown by the same authority quoted by the Times (the department of agriculture), "with the supply so much greater than the demand, prices have fallen to a point much lower than has been the case in years."

Over production, you fool farmers. That is only over production.

Over production! While thousands are idling for want of work, and starving for want of money to buy cheap bread and cheap meat and cheap potatoes.

Shall we, as a people, pray to God to "give us this day our daily bread," and when His merciful Providence, He sends, the early and the latter rain, and gives us abundantly of that "food" we cry out, its over production! Yes, we have the warehouses bulging with grain, and yet there are thousands of unemployed roaming the country begging bread.

As signs of the great prosperity, we are told that exist, our ships carry gold instead of produce to foreign lands. Our certificates of indebtedness are piling up in England and year by year the tax is heavier and the burden more enormous, but the farm continues to yield its increase and the sod tickled with the hoe answers merrily to the touch, and our "storehouses" are overburdened and oppressed even unto bursting, but to buy the cheap things there, the many blessings that are offered so low to labor, it takes three times the work that it did in former times. Yes, let the navest laugh and let the ground be glad in giving of its abundance, but the increasing purchasing capacity of the dollar has more than keeps pace with the yield of nature's store house and as the money lessens and the harvest increases the farmer finds it takes more hours of labor to secure what he desires for his home comforts or necessitates each day as the seasons roll by.

Undoubtedly the country is afflicted with over production, but not of bread, while people starve; not of clothes, while people go naked; not of houses, while families are turned into the street, but they are afflicted with an over production of millionaires and men who subserviently bow down and worship them.

A Generous Offer—$200.00 in Gold Given.

R. H. Woodward Company Baltimore Md., are making a very generous offer of $200.00 to anyone who will sell within three months 200 copies of "Talks to Children about Jesus." They give credit and pay freight, and send complete canvassing outfit for 35 cents. It is just the book to be sold for the holidays. They also offer an Estey Organ, retail price $270, to anyone who will sell 110 books in three months. It is an excellent opportunity for a church or society to secure one of these organs. A $100.00 bicycle to be given for selling 80 copies in two months, or a gold watch for selling 60 copies in one month. This premium is in addition to the regular commission. They have also published a new book, "Gems of Religious Thought," by Talmage, which is having a large sale. Same terms and premiums as on "Talks to Children about Jesus." Will It Keep?

In reply to a correspondent asking Mr. Speer about his Orpoto Grape Juice, he says he will warrant it to keep any length of time in bottles if they are kept full and well corked. The Juice is not likely to keep long after allowed to come in contact with atmosphere over 40 degrees temperature. It is excellent for invalids.

Vote for Quigley and Miller.

A Great Bond Issue.

There is not a doubt as to the fact that President Cleveland in his Message to Congress next December will urge the necessitles of retiring all that portion of the United States paper money which is redeemable in gold.

Cleveland will echo the cry of the money lenders and bankers that this paper money is a continual threat to the gold reserve and therefore to the credit of the nation.

He will say that long time gold bonds can be sold for gold at a very low rate of interest probably 2½ per cent. for fifty year bonds.

There are now $346,000,000 in legal tender notes (greenbacks) and $150,000,000 in what are known as "Sherman notes"—that is those with which the silver was purchased under the Sherman law—all of which $500,000,000 in round numbers—is redeemable in gold on demand according to the Treasury interpretation not according to law which calls for 'coin.'

Cleveland's proposal will be to place these bonds abroad, selling them for gold, and with the proceeds retiring the $500,000,000 worth of gold redeemable paper. Of course the President will propose to give his banking friends the opportunity to realize a few million dollars by the sale of the bonds.

What will the people say to the proposal to load them down with a new debt of $500,000,000, payable not in coin, as the present debt is, but in gold.

Vote for Henry C. Quigley.

No Wonder!

"His teeth he still did grind
And grimly gnash."—Spencer.

For the sufferer all the agonizing tortures of dyspepsia. In the morning his eyes were dim and bloodshot, a horrible nausea was experienced, food was to him revolting and yet a knawing craving for food prevaded his whole system. His heart palpitated violently after the least exertion. Hope had nearly left him when he read of the marvelous cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He hurried to the drug store, bought a bottle and the effects were so satisfactory that he now gnashes his teeth when he thinks of the agonies he might have prevented, had he used "G. M. D."

Might Result Fatally.

A dangerous habit is indulged in by the little boys around the passenger stations. It is that of jumping on and off the different trains as they pull in and out each day. Some at these fine mornings one of these foolish youths will be minus an arm or leg and then he will wish he had stayed at home. Parents should be more careful and warn their childern against doing these things because the little boys become accustomed to leaping on the trains that they don't realize how dangerous it is. It would be a great misfortune to any boy to have an arm or leg cut off as it would be a great hindrance throughout his whole life. It is against the rules of the railroad company to jump on the trains and some day one of these urchins may find himself behind the bars at the lockup.

Making Improvements.

The woodwork on the exterior of the jail is being painted besides other repairs being made. The inside of the jail wall has been newly plastered.

The Lost Found.

The dead-letter office of the postoffice department a Washington should be searched thoroughly and promptly. It is feared that Mr. William L. Wilson, formerly member of congress from Great Britain, is lost somewhere among its recesses. It has been many moons since he has been heard from, he who formerly was so much in evidence. Since Mr. Cleveland threw up his shrinking shoulders the mantle of the late Mr. W. Sunset Bissell he haa been as still as the grave.

There is something uncanny about the silence of the ex-college professor from West Virginia. It was not long ago, either, that he was standing on the floor of congress and announcing to cheering Democrats that the fight for tariff reform had only begun, and that he was prepared to lead the forces of free-trade so long as he had the wherewithal to breath. But where now is that voice that rang out so shrilly through the corridors of the capitul that even the lobbyists paused in their work to listen to his brave words of defiance?

Where is Wilson? His name has not yet appeared among the visitors to Gray Gables and, so far as the world knows, he has not once made a trip to Buzzard's bay. From Washington comes no news of the Man-Afraid Of-Gorman, and even his native haunts of West Virginia are silent upon the subject. Can it be that this wonderful mind is at rest beyond the sea, where in the bosom of his English constituency he can forget his troubles and find sympathetic comfort? Has he sailed across the ocean in one of the Government vessels, following the example of the other cabinet officials?

Perhaps, though, he is hard at work on new postal laws, which will soon startle the country. It may be that he is considering the plan of compelling all postmen to wear the English uniform, of sending all the documents of the Cobden club free of charge through the mails; of accepting nothing but English money in payment for stamps; of prohibiting all protection literature from the mails; of having pictures of Grover Cleveland and Queen Victoria hang side by side in every postoffice throughout the land, of changing the names of postoffices so that their titles will be more English and other reforms that he would naturally consider appropriate.

There must be some good reason for this silence. Of course, he may be a little sore from the avalanche of votes that fell upon him in november, but a little thing like that would not daunt this intrepid warrior. The country, alarmed, eagerly awa its tidings from Mr. William Lost Wilson.—Albany State, Aug. 8, 1895.

Wilson is not lost; he has been found. he was simmering by the seaside with friend Straus, probably arranging a new tariff schedule, whereby pottery and crockery ware, such as is manufactured in Straus' cheap labor factories of Europe, can be admitted into this country at a still lower rate of duty, as the next step toward absolute free trade.

An Interesting Lecture.

In speaking of the lecture as will be delivered by Dr. Stanley at the Presbyterian church on next Sunday morning, L. G. Fouse, member of the Executive Committee of Philadelphia Presbyterian Socia Union says: "I have yet to find the first one who was not pleased with Dr. Stanley's lecture. He never fails to hold the closest attention of his audience. He always masters his subject and exerts somewhat of a magnetic influence upon his hearers. He has edified, thrilled and delighted Northminster audiences with his lecture 'God's Footprints in the Occident and Orient,' and 'The Land of the Rising Sun.'" whether due to the inheritance of some scrofulous disorder, or caused by a depleted condition of the system, is the cause of much agony. A terrible complexion, foul eruptions, and loathesome ulcers are but outward symptoms—the sufferer should remember that all of the great organs of the body are likewise diseased, and the day cannot be long distant when death must surely ensue.

Impoverished * Blood

Bovinine

when taken for this trouble, is a means of salvation. It creates new flesh tissue and pure red blood corpuscles, and by giving strength to the great vital centres of the body, it enables them to perform their functions naturally, and thus dispel the existing poisons by the natural channels. It is not a medicine, but a powerful food preparation and invigorant, and is endorsed by over 25,000 physicians.

EDITORIAL.

THE third term racket is a barren ideality, Mr. Cleveland!

OVER confidence is bad in any walk of life, but it is especially fatal in politics. Take nothing for granted in Pennsylvania this year.

THE strongest reason against Whitney as the presidential candidate next year is the fact that he is the man responsible for Cleveland's nomination in 1892.

IT IS gratifying to know that Chairman Quay appreciates the work done for the party by the rural press. There is no doubt that it is one of the important factors in every campaign.

THERE is considerable good natured rivalry regarding the banner Republican county in the state. Philadelphia, Lancaster and Allegheny counties hope to equal if they do not exceed their former records.

INDIVIDUAL work counts for much in politics, and it will mean a great deal in Pennsylvania this year. Let every man make it a point to urge his neighbors to come to the polls and the total result will be astonishing.

THIS will be a short political campaign. The two parties have just nominated their candidates and the election is less than a month off. Protests have frequently been made against long campaigns. Here, then, is an opportunity to try one of the shorter sort. There is no doubt that the time is sufficiently long for the doing of all the necessary work. And that is all that is requisite.

THE treasury officials are devoutly praying that the price of sugar may advance so that they may collect more money upon its importation on the ad valorem basis. An increase of a fraction of a cent would mean millions to the government. Under a Republican tariff sugar was free, and that portion of the workingman's breakfast table was untaxed. And the Republican tariff raised money enough to run the government.

WE observe with satisfaction that the protectionist journals of the entire country combine to defend the national policy of encouragement to home industries with ability and success. Their arguments are up to date, and deal with new phases of the question. The welfare of the whole country, and especially of the wage earners, is an inspiring theme and merits the ability with which the subject is discussed in connection with the tariff.

THE gold beaters of Chicago, New York and Philadelphia are unable to see where the Democratic tariff has helped them. When it went into effect they were getting $13 a week or $6.50 a beating of 500 leaves on piece work. Since then wages have declined to $7.50 a week and $3.50 a beating. Now they are on strike for $10 a week and $5 a beating, and will think themselves lucky if they win. These gold beaters are not the only artisans beaten by the Democratic tariff.

THE wool growers of Montana propose to go to congress next winter and demand a protective tariff on wool. As the house will be Republican they will be heard, and if the Republican party controlled the White House they would get what they wanted. But it is strange that these Montana wool growers don't know their own interests. The Democratic statesmen have been telling them that free wool was the best thing in the world for them, and yet they can't see it. If they are not careful the Democratic sheets will be calling them political wool growers.

THE campaign of local candidates for the county offices this year is very much as other years. The Democrats have adopted a new scheme, however, and it is one that they have been very cleverly cultivating in every district of the county. It is to admit the overwhelming Republican majority, and that they have no show of electing anyone on the ticket. Therefore, upon personal grounds—as the case may be—they ask this Republican or that Republican simply for a complimentary vote. If Republicans yield to this mode of cutting candidates on their own ticket, they may greatly endanger its success, and that is all there is in it for the Democratic ticket. If it results in the election of any one of the Democratic candidates they will only laugh in their sleeves at you for being so foolish as to cast your vote as a compliment. No good Republican will be caught by this scheme. Vote the straight ticket and there will be no chance for exultation at your expense.

The total Republican vote in Pennsylvania in off years shrinks on an average of 30 per cent. This should not be. Do your duty as a good citizen. Go out and vote on election day and do your share toward remedying this condition of things.

Counterfeiting by "Pasters."

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Joseph Dreyer was brought here last night by a deputy United States marshal from Stark county and charged with counterfeiting. Dreyer tried to pass a dollar bill which had been fixed with pasters to represent $10. In his possession was found a $2 bill raised to a $20 in the same way. He also had pasters for $50 bills. He told the officers that he bought the pasters from a Pittsburg man, who supplied them by mail. This is the second arrest for a similar offense in that vicinity within a short time, and it is believed counterfeiters are systematically at work.

A Titled Preacher.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Rev. W. H. Evans, who supplied the pulpit of Christ church, in Warwick, Orange county, during the past summer, has since fallen heir to an immense estate in Ireland, and he also gets the title of Lord Carbury. It is stated that the estate will net him an income of about $40,000 per annum. Mrs. Evans will be known as the Countess Carbury.

Fatally Shot His Sweetheart.

EATON, O., Oct. 14.—John Monroe Smith, aged 17, escorted home his sweetheart, Gertrude Lally, quarreled with her on the way, and arriving at the house shot and fatally wounded her in the presence of her mother. He then surrendered to the county sheriff.

AMERICA A DUMPING GROUND.

Foreigners Place Their Pauper Made Goods in the Market to the Detriment of the American Laborer, and at a Rate That was Impossible Under the Provisions of the McKinley Law.

Secretary Carlisle has had prepared for himself a tabulated statement of the receipts of the government for twelve months each under the old law and under the present law. The month of August marked the end of the first year of the new tariff, and comparisons are now possible. The tables are given below. It will be seen that the revenues from customs under the new law exceed those under the McKinley law by over $35,000,000, and that there is not a month when the customs under the new law did not exceed those for the corresponding month under the old law. That means, of course, that the foreign manufacturers, recognizing the advantages offered to them by the new tariff, have been dumping their pauper made goods on the American market to the detriment of the American laborer at a rate that was impossible under the provisions of the McKinley law.

The comparison between the receipts from internal revenue tells a different story, for the revenues under the new law fall nearly $50,000,000 below those under the McKinley law. Not a single month under the new law did the receipts from internal revenue approach the receipts for the corresponding month under the old law. This great decrease of revenue is ascribed at the bureau of internal revenue to dropping off of the whisky revenues. It will be remembered that while the tariff bill was before the senate Senator Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, was the principal advocate of an increase of twenty cents per gallon on whisky, and it was his constant argument that every cent the tax on whisky was increased would bring an annual increase of a million dollars. The results have not borne out Mr. Voorhees' roseate prediction. The revenues from internal revenue taxes, instead of being increased by $20,000,000, are short nearly $50,000,000, so that Mr. Voorhees is about $70,000,000 wrong on his forecast. No explanation is given at the internal revenue bureau for the remarkable falling off of the whisky revenues. It was known that vast quantities of whisky had been taken out of bond just before the new law went into effect, which accounts for the enormous revenues received during the last two months under the McKinley law; but it was the confident expectation of the internal revenue officers that after the first six months the results of the increased whisky tax would begin to show. The failure of the revenues to increase led at first to the suspicion that the increased tax had resulted in an increase of illicit distilling, but the reports from the districts where "moonshining" is the principal industry failed to verify this theory. The receipts from whisky are expected by the internal officers to amount to $500,000 or more a day hereafter, but other officers of the treasury predict that this figure will not be realized, and that it will be six months or more before the whisky receipts return to normal figures.

Woolen Manufacturers' Prospects.

The life of the domestic worsted manufacturer is in the balance. The woolen manufacturer has not yet been seriously disturbed, except indirectly, as the foreign worsteds displace the woolen goods, but it is credibly reported that the coming season will find the foreign maker offering wool goods in this market, and while his prospects of success are not as good as on worsteds it may be set down as a certainty that he will know beforehand pretty close to what he can do. The foreign maker is here today, through his representatives, making preparations to gather in a share of the woolen goods business. The domestic manufacturer who closes his eyes to these conditions and rests confidently upon his own strength may have cause to repent his blindness and overconfidence.—Textile Manufacturers' Journal.

Stuffing, Then Plucking.

The cable letters from London tell how the Englishmen are making much of Americans this year. They can afford to on the bond deal alone, to say nothing of the great revival of British manufacturing and trade consequent upon the passage of the Gorman-Wilson bill.—Salt Lake Tribune.

To Wed Wales' Daughter.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—It is reported here via Paris that the Count of Turin, nephew of the king of Italy, is soon coming to England and that he will marry one of the daughters of the Prince of Wales. The prince was born in 1879.

CHEAPNESS VS. EXCELLENCE.

Keen Competition Checks Trade Excellence and Shoddy Rules the Markets.

The workings of the Gorman tariff show in an unmistakable manner that cheapness and free trade are as firm allies as are protection and excellence. Taking the the case of free wool, an investigation of any market in the United States will show that the quality of the woolen goods now being offered for sale throughout the country is vastly inferior to the quality and finish of the goods that were sold here a few years ago. The foreign manufacturers of woolen goods have determined to secure as much of our trade as they possibly can under the lower tariff now in existence. What they cannot get by the undervaluation fraud they will get by fraud in the admixture of the component parts of the goods. Articles that they offer to sell us as being made of all wool are either part wool and part shoddy or all shoddy.

There is no disgrace in wearing garments that are made of shoddy, only let them be sold as shoddy. Everybody understands, of course, that they will not wear as long as goods made of pure wool and nobody expects that they will. They cost less. But when wages are lower than their former high level, and when the number of earners is less than it used to be, the question of a few dollars forms a considerable factor in the cost of a purchase of woolen goods. The shoddy article can be furnished for the smaller outlay, and the buyer will often console himself with the fact that he may be able to afford better material later on, when times have improved. Thus it is that shoddy garments are at present regulating values for all our woolens. In order to meet this competition the American manufacturers have in some instances attempted to supply the market with goods made from shoddy in this country, though the shoddy itself may have been imported. In this way the demand for pure wool is curtailed, and the sheep farmer suffers.

It is not only in the case of woolen goods that the consanguinity of cheapness and free trade is so noticeable. It stands stamped on almost every article made in a free trade country, where the value of labor is degraded to the lowest competing point. Where market cannot be secured or a margin of profit gained by squeezing additional blood money out of the unfortunate free trade laborer, it is done by deteriorating the quality of the goods manufactured. This has been particularly noticeable during recent years in the construction of English steamships, those ordinary freight carriers that our free traders were so anxious that we should purchase under a free ship bill, and which the foreign ship owners were, on their part, equally anxious to sell us. For stability, sound material, careful workmanship and excellence of finish the American steamship today stands second to none in the world. Good wages mean good work; cheap wages mean cheap work. Free trade means cheap wages and cheap goods; protection means good wages and the best of goods.

Cornerstone Laid.

Crove City., Pa., Oct. 25.—The cornerstone of the new Reformed church was laid this afternoon, with very appropriate ceremonies. The congregation and friends assembled in their hall, where addresses were made by Rev. Keifer of Greenville and Rev. Keshmer of Sharpsville, after which they marched to the new church and held ceremonies appropriate to the occasion. Several articles were placed in the stone, including a Bible, Testament, names of the members and officers, and a copy of the local papers.

For His Mother's Sake.

Chester, Pa., Oct. 25.—Fred Heard, aged 11 years, shot and probably fatally injured his father, David Heard, aged 47 years, this morning at their home. No. 604 East Fourth street. The father and mother quarreled and the son defended his mother. His father turned on him and the son, drawing a revolver, shot his parent four times. The first shot took effect over the right eye, second in right arm, third in left hand and fourth grazed the left arm.

THE BLUES.

Why do Women have the Blues more than Men?

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Are not women naturally as lighthearted, brave, and hopeful as men?

Yes; but woman's organism is different from man's.

Women in perfect or good health are rarely victims of this symptom.

Women nearly monopolize the blues, because their peculiar ailments promote them.

When the female organs fail to perform their functions properly, when the dreaded female complaints appear, there is shown nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, headache, bearing-down pains, etc., causing the dreaded "let-me-alone" and "all-gone" feelings.

When the woman does not understand what the matter is, and her doctor can not or will not tell her, she grows morose and melancholy; that's the blues.

Mrs. Newton Cobb, of Manchester, O., says: "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all this trouble. I cannot praise it enough. I am pleased to tell every one that it cured me; and if it will cure me, why not others? I am sure my case was severe enough." It will!

MINERS HOLD A CONFERENCE.

Clearfield Coal Diggers Vote Against Suspending Work.

Philipsburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—At the convention of miners at Ramey to-night there was a majority against suspending work at this time, but the men selected a committee of employees of the Berwynd-White company to go to Philadelphia and present to the officers of that company their request for an advance of 5 cents a ton in the mining rate. Failing to receive the increase, the committee was instructed to ask that a joint convention of operators and miners be held before November 10, the conference to be composed of miners and operators along the Pennsylvania railroad and the Beech Creek railway. The committee left for Philadelphia to-night.

Owing to the action taken to-night, William B. Wilson master workman of the Independent Order of Knights of Labor, has telegraphed the Miners' Executive board, suggesting that all miners now idle along the lines of the railroads named resume work pending the outcome of the conference to be held in Philadelphia on Friday between the officials of the company named and the committee. He has also called a convention of the miners located along the Rochester and Pittsburg, Reynoldsville and Falls Creek and Erie railroads, to meet in DuBois Friday afternoon.

Don't forget to send your complaints to "Editor of Kicker's Column" Box 154, and they will receive due consideration. Get all your complaints each week in by Friday morning and they will then come before the public on the following day. Don't hesitate about sending in your complaints as you have a perfect right to let the public known that you are not satisfied with everything in this world.

Another unfortunate reaction from the wave of returning prosperity comes in the news that the American Wire Nail Compand of Anderson, Ind., operating the largest plant in the United States, has been compelled to reduce its force by 1,000 men. The American manufacturer and the foreign manufacturer cannot both supply the same market at the same time.—Buffalo Express, September 10, 1895.

DURANT SAYS SHE WROTE FAIRY TALES.

A Woman Reporter Relates Her Talk With the Accused.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—After a bitte legal struggle lasting three months, the testimony in the trial of Theodore Durrant is all in and to-morrow the argument of the case will begin. When court adjourned this afternoon District Attorney Barnes announced that he would not formally close the case for the people, he would undoubtedly do so the first thing to-morrow. Mr. Barnes notified the attorneys for the defense that at most he would have but one more witness, whose examination would last but a few minutes.

The case would have ended in a pyrotechnic display of sensation to-day if the testimony that was introduced had not been printed so often before that it was familiar to everybody. Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter. who visited Durrant at the prison frequently, testified that Durrant told her he saw Blanche Lamont on the second floor of the belfry where she was murdered. While engaged in fixing a sun burner, Miss Cunningham said he told her he heard a suspicious noise in the belfry which attracted his attention He crept along the ceiling of the church until he came to the belfry casing, where he looked through a crack and saw Miss Lamont.

Miss Cunningham's testimony was obtained only after a great number of objections made by the defense had been argued and ruled upon. An effort was also made to secure statement from witness with regard to an alleged confession made by Durrant, but the court sustained an objection to the question. On one of Miss Cunningham's visits to the prisoner, he is said to have shown her an envelope addressed to his attorneys, marked. "To be opened if I am convicted and to be returned if I am acquitted."

The witness was subjected to a rigid cross examination in which an effort was made to show the means in which she had resorted to obtain interviews with Durrant. She said at the suggestion of the newspaper by which she was employed she expressed the greatest friendship for the prisoner and frequently sent him papers, magazines and flowers. She denied that she ever took an oath and kissed the Bible after promising Durrant not to publish anything he told her. She said she promised Durrant she would not publish anything he told her, and kept her word.

Only two witnesses besides Miss Cunningham were examined to-day. Both were physicians. Their testimony was important from the fact that it showed that Durrant did not have the appearance of one who had been partly asphyxiated when he met organist King in the church on the afternoon of April 3. King testitified that Durrant was pale and trembling when he saw him. When on the stand the prisoner corroborated King's testimony. Doctors May and Rosentein, who were examined, testified that the first effect of gas was to flush the face and lips and inflame the eyes. Durrant, according to his own statement, had not had the symptons. Physicians also testified that a man who for five minutes ad been subjected to fumes of escaping gas from twenty-four jets would be insensible.

Escaped from the Asylum.

John Mallory, of this county, who has been undergoing treatment in the hospital at Harrisburg for strange halluciations, made his escape from that institution a few nights ago and walked the entire distance from Harrisburg to his former home at Rebersburg. He covered the distance of over 100 miles over mountains and valleys in less than two days' time and without eating or resting. Mallory now seems to be in his right mind. He refuses to state how he made his escape.—Reporte

A Successful Remedy.

The new discovery anti-toxine for preventative and curative purposes for diphtheria, has been tried in Bellefonte for the first time, and so far it has proved successful. Several of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whippo have had very bad cases of this dreaded disease and on Thursday evening Dr. Tobin prescribed anti-toxine on one of the children which he thought was beyond recovery. The medicine was prescribed about 9 o'clock in the evening and at midnight a change for the better came and this morning the child is in a fair way to recovery. This new medicine was only discovered about three months ago.

ARGUING DURRANT'S CASE.

District Attorney Piexoto Devotes Five Hours in Trying to Prove the Guilt of the Accused—The Defense Will be Heard To-day.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—Both sides in the Durrant murder case closed this morning without adding any more testimony of importance, and District Attorney Piexoto began the opening address to the jury. The address, which occupied five hours in the delivery, was able and covered the case in all its details. It consisted in part of a scathing arraignment of the defendant, which moved him and his mother for the first time since the trial began. Mr. Piexoto carefully summed up all the evidence, showing, as he hoped to the satisfaction of the jury that the murderer of Blanche Lamont was the man on trial for the crime, He asked the jury to find for murder in the first degree, with the death penalty.

At the close of the address, Gen, Dickinson, for the defense, presented an affidavit as to the continued illness of Attorney Deuprey, of the defense, and asked for a continuance until Monday, which was denied. Dickinson will to-morrow make the address for the defense.

Johnstown, Pa., Oct., 24.—All the miners at Lilly, Portage and Dunlo were out to-day, despite the fact that they were ordered to return to work. At Gallitzin 60 per cent, of the men went to work at the Mitchell mines, leaving 1,800 still out in town. At Dunlo the miners went to work yesterday and came out again to-day, closing down every works. The men claim they are going to stand firm. At Hastings and Patton about one-half of the men are still out. All are out at Frugality. The men at South Fork and Ehrenfield continue to work.

Useful Gifts.

A very little girl asks what easy thing she may find to do for her mother's birthday. Make a set of table mats, dear, of coarse white cotton, crocheting them in sample close work, and finishing with a scalloped edge. I saw a very pretty set the other day, and the lady who owned them was proud that her youngest daughter, aged eight, had made them herself.

What do you think of this as a hint for useful little gifts? A Portia pen-wiper is practical, unique, new, and easy of construction. Buy a china doll—one that stands firmly. Make for her several chamois-skin skirts of different lengths, putting on the shortest one first. Pink the edges. The costume should be a student's red or black gown and cap, and put a tiny roll of parchment in her hand. If you have to tie the roll in the hand, use fine silk of the same color as the parchment, and it will scarcely show. The gown should be long and full. The materia may be silk, velvet, or cashmere. The cap should have a square top, fastened to a narrow band fitting close to the head The doll should have the appearance of stateliness. Whenever the chamois is soiled, replace the skirts, and thus the pen-wiper is always clean.

The Saratoga Returns.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—The Pennsylvania school ship Saratoga, returning from her Summer cruise of five months among European ports, passed the Delaware breakwater on her way to Philadelphia at 9.35 o'clock this morning and reached the city in the evening. Gales along the coast have caused the ship to be several days overdue.

In this sense, to say that the quantity of money regulates prices is only the same thing to say of any article that is bought or sold that its quantity is a material factor is determining its value.—A Chapter in Standard Money, Giffen.

The further opening up of the South Central group of gold mines, and the erection of a Stamp Mill to reduce the company's ore to bullion, is a square, legitimate use of capital.

1. Mr. Barry, formerly of Cripple Creek, the Bonanza gold camp of Colorado, sold his interests there, and bought the Morning Star gold mine, a producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

2. Captain Plummer, formerly of the Granite Mountain mine, is now working the Delamar Mine, a large producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

As the Granite Mountain (Gold and Silver Mining Co.) stock rose from about twelve cents a share to over $50 a share, and paid from 25 cents to 50 cents per share per month in dividends, under the superintendency of Captain Plummer, we consider him a pretty safe guide to follow in mining, and we invite you to participate in the investment.

—About sixty State College students came to Bellefonte to celebrate on Monday evening. Their conduct in the opera house at times was very annoying to the spectators as well as the actors on the stage.

—Shem Spigelmyer has received his great pacer "Billy O" which has just been on the race track. The horse has a fast record and will cause some envy among the horse dealers in town. It is a fine specimen of horse flesh and stands 16 hands high.

—The street in front of the court house is in a very filthy condition along the pavement on either side of the fountain. The dirt is swept up in piles and left there. A very little work would be necessary in cleaning up the street and it should be done at once.

—Stuart, the full back of the P. A. C. is considered a great foot ball player, but an accident on the foot ball field, such as the breaking of an arm, would leave him worthless for work on the base ball field next season. Stuart has been told of this, but wards it off with the assertion that it will be a long time before he is hurt.—Pittsburg Times.

—Manager Garman is to be complimented on the good class of shows he has had at his opera house so far this season. Every one of them has been good and we hope this will be the case throughout the entire season. Of course in the show business it is like everything else, "you can't always sometimes tell," and a poor attraction may steal in upon Manager Garman before he knows it. This is the case however in every town where there is an opera house.

CENTRE COUNTY ON TOP!

State College Defeats Bucknell 16 to 0.

About 250 enthusiasts left the P. R. R. station on Saturday morning for Williamsport to enjoy the annual game of foot ball between the elevens of the Pennsylvania State College and Bucknell university. Everything was foot ball when they reached there, and almost everyone seen on the streets before the game wore their favorite colors, either the blue and white of State, or the orange and blue of Bucknell.

The scene at the Updegraff, the headquarters of the Bucknell team was full of enthusiasm, soon after it was invaded by the supporters of the Centre County College, but there was very little "scrapping."

The game commenced at 3 p. m. with the ball in Bucknell's possession. They started with two fake "kick off" and the ball went to State. During the first-half the playing was very close; the superior weight of the Bucknell team giving them a slight advantage which kept the ball in State's territory most of the time. However, even in the half, State's superior training and style of play was evident to careful observers. For by steady rushes they pounded the ball down to their opponents 20 yard line, where an inexcusable fumble lost it, and then the Lewisburg boys by a good rally brought the ball past the centre of the field, where they were forced to kick. The State College boys once more worked their way to within 30 yards of Bucknell's goal, where they lost 25 yards on a foul. After this Bucknell steadily gained until time was called with the ball on States 12 yard line. Score 0 to 0.

State opened the second-half with the kickoff, and Bucknell by a series of short, fierce rushes, which made full use of their surplus weight, pushed the ball down the field for good gains, but were at last forced to kick. State made a free catch on her 30 yard line and then started in to put up a first-rate game, her interference during this half worked excellently, and had it not been for some wretched fumbling the score would have been much larger. Four touch downs were scored, one of which was not allowed, and goals were kicked from two of them. Bucknell fought gamely and had three men disabled, but State played such a fast, snappy game and held her interference together so well that the Bucknell men, found it very difficult to break up.

Wedded at Snow Shoe.

A most pleasant feature of the season occurred at the home of Jesse G. Lucas, near Snow Shoe on Wednesday evening, Oct. 24th. The event was the marriage of Miss Cordia B. Lucas, and Mr. Wilbur H. Holt. The happy couple were launched upon the sea of matrimony by Rev. H. N. Minnigh, pastor of the Snow Shoe M. E. church, in the presence of a number of invited guests. After the ceremony all repaired to the dining room, where the tables were loaded with delicious things, and it is needless to say that all did justice to the elegant feast. May the happy pair have a long and prosperous life.

On Sunday morning Rev. Frederick J. Stanley, L. H. D., who was several years professor of English Literature in Count Okuma's college, Tokyo, Japan, and who later returned to this country, will deliver a lecture in the Presbyterian church. The subject of the lecture will be "God's Footprints in the Occident and Orient," or "God's Onward March Across the Continents and Through the Centuries." This sermonic lecture shows "God's Footprints" in Europe and America for the past 1800 years, followed by His "Stately Steppings" of the past half a century in India, China and especially Japan. This is prepared for the Sabbath services, but may also be used on week day evenings. It verifies the unity of the great work at home and abroad, uniting home and foreign missions under the cross.

Decision on Subscribers.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas, of the postoffice department, has given an opinion "that subscribers to newspapers cannot escape all liability for payment for papers which they receive. Where a party takes a paper out of the office, he will be liable for subscription price for it, whether his time is out or not, or whether he subscribed for it originally or not. The only way for him to escape liability is to refuse to receive it.

It Was Fine.

The "Merchant of Venice" as portrayed at Garman's opera house on Monday evening by the Hanford, Spencer, O'Brien company was truly one of the best productions ever witnessed on a Bellefonte stage. A crowded house greeted the company which was a high testimonial of the confidence placed in the troupe although it was the first appearance of the same in our city. Mr. Charles B. Hanford as "Shylock" took his part to perfection and was frequently applauded for his fine acting. He said his lines in a way only made possible by years of practice. Mr. Spencer as "Bassanio" was another star and he too won the admiration of the audience for his fine acting. Miss Nora O'Brien made a beautiful "Portia" and easily swayed the hearts of every spectator by her refined manner and graceful acting. She has a very pleasing stage presence and certainly shows evidence of fine talent. A great future is surely in store for her. The support on a whole was good and the play throughout was wrought with exceptionally fine acting by all the characters. The costumes and sceaery were superb and elicited much favorable comment. We sincerely hope this company will favor Bellefonte with a return date in the near future.

The "Two Johns."

The Inquirer, Buffalo, April 16.

The "Two Johns" Stewart and Dressler made fun for everybody at the Lyceum last night, and their mishaps through their resemblance to each other was enough to make anybody laugh. They look so much alike that it would be difficult for the uninitiated to tell them apart.

As Philip Johns and Peter Johns the two men make a great hit and introduce a good many new jokes and situations which are striking. The support by the remainder of the company is good and some musical numbers are introduced which give variety to the program. The instrumental music is particularly good.

There was a large and well-pleased audience out last evening as there always is when these two favorite "Johns" come to Buffalo.

The "Two Johns" will be at the Lyceum all the week with the usual matinees to day, Thursday and Saturday.

Surprise Party.

The Misses Nellie and Corney Grant, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Grant, were the recipients Tuesday night of a delightful surprise party. Ross, Samuel Robinson, Leander Green, Wm. Mills, Jr., Robert Stewart, Lewis Mills, and Henry Thomas, increased the happiness of the occupants of the parsonage by their presence and a variety of food palpable for the appetite. Music, singing and speeches enlivened the happy party until quite a late hour in the night. The Misses Grant will leave on Thursday morning enroute to Uniontown, Pa., where they will spend some time with their grandmother.

Struck by a Falling Tree.

Thomas W. Forster, the well known timber inspector, and Clayton Pepperman, both of this city, were cutting hickory timber in Meadow hollow, near the German settlement Saturday. When the sixty-fifth tree fell it struck a small sapling, causing the falling tree to jerk itself around, and the but to strike Mr. Forster, who was standing at a spot in a direction opposite to that which the tree was falling. Mr. Forster was thrown and pinned to the ground by the tree, which was a foot thick. Mr. Pepperman succeeded in prying the tree off the prostrate man. Mr. Forster was able to walk a part of the distance to this city, when he was met by a friend in a buggy, and was brought home. Both the legs at the ankle are badly swollen and bruised.—Lock Haven Express.

Use It in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is, in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucous, and if the mucous discharge becomes inter-rooted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

DON'T RECOGNIZE THE PRESS.

The Manager of the State College Eleven Turns Down Credentials.

C. M. Thompson manager for the State College foot ball team, has gained the ill will of every newspaper man in this section of the state. He refused to recognize the newspaper men who presented their credentials at Saturday's game, and utterly ignored the editors and reporters from Bellefonte. He is reported to have told the Bellefonte newspaper men that he had no use for them. When questioned by the City Editor of the Gazette and Bulletin regarding recognization of credentials, he showed an utter lack of courtesy. Other newspaper men were similarly treated. When asked whether Dr. Atherton, principal of State College, sanctioned his actions, he said that gentleman had nothing to do with it.

The action of Bucknell was diametrically opposite. To Manager Charles Firth and Register W. C. Gretzinger, of the college, the thanks of the press are due for al courtesies and facilities extended. The press would have received scanty recognition had it not been for these gentlemen. After having received upwards of $50 worth of free advertising in this city a paltry $10 worth of tickets were distributed among the various papers, and Manager Thompson wanted to make it only $5. State College "rooters" who were spoken to on this subject did not uphold Mr. Thompson. State College foot ball players and "rooter" will be welcome here again but Mr. Thompson won't. Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

Speaking editorially that paper also says The action of State College's foot ball manager in refusing to recognize the press the (main support of such institutions as he represents) is unprecedented in this section of the state. Mr. Thompson may congratulate himself upon bearing the doubtful worthy distinction of being the first manager to turn down a reporter's credentials. Before the press of the state gets through with him he may berate himself for the penurious stupidity he has shown.

—It is to be hoped that the next time State College decides to play a game of foot ball in this city they will go outside of their preparatory department in selecting a manager. Putting the entire arrangements for a large event like that of Saturday into the hands of young and inexperienced members of the primary department is apt to result in some dissatisfaction, and mar an otherwise pleasant occasion. The newspapers of Williamsport have been liberal in their treatment of State College, and have a right to feel aggrieved at the discourteous conduct of the young man who managed the State College foot ball team.—Williamsport Sun.

—While Manager Thompson, of the State College foot ball team, was busily engaged in "turning down" press credentials at the entrance to Athletic Park Saturday last, scores of "rooters" were climbing the back fence with the aid of a ladder borrowing from a neighboring house. Verily, great is "the" Thompson.

Now Mr. Thompson not only sat down upon all credentials, but also forced a man holding a properly executed special pass to give up fifty cents. The pass is still here in evidence. Mr. Thompson even goes back on himself,—Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

The faculty of State College would hardly sanction the yells of some of the "rooters" who were in this city Saturday. The vulgarity of speech would have appeared to better advantage on the Bowery than on the grid iron where delicate ears were in abundance. State College yells should be toned down to the legitimate and should be more in keeping with a respectable institution of learning.—Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

—C.M. Thompson, manager of the State College eleven, is one of the most unpopular men in the business. He completely snubs the press everywhere he goes, and never fails to get an ugly slap from the reporters. Manager Thompson forgets that newspapers made foot ball the great game it is to-day.—Altoona Times.

—The language used by the State College boys on their march down Fourth street Saturday night was not a credit to them by any means.—Williamsport Evening News.

This is only another instance where manager Thompson showed his smallness. He has already gained the ill will of every newspaper man in Bellefonte, and this trouble will only cease when Mr. Thompson is fired ont of the College. For the good of State College the sooner Mr. Thompson makes himself noticeable by his absence the better it will be for that institution. One thing is certain, and that is that Bellefonte support to State College's athletic and social events is at an end for a long time to come at the least.

A Business Change.

On Monday a change was made in the firm of Schreyer and Rees, grocers on Allegheny street. Mr. Rees has retired from the firm and his interest was purchased by Samuel Shaffer of Curtin Street. Mr. Shaffer's interest will be looked after by his son Herbert who has already established quite a reputation as a hustling business man. It is rumored that Mr. Rees will go into the grocery business at some other new stand in Bellefonte in the near future.
